

Get to know the agencies behind Brazil's World Cup

There are hundreds of promotional operations of all kinds, spread through airports, areas around the stadiums, Fan Fests, Hospitality centers, hotels, mansions, event venues and outlets.

According to the evaluation of executives' from promo agencies, the increment in revenue generated by the World Cup should be around 20%, and about 10,000 manufacturing professionals and services are directly involved with the activations. Eighty percent of all investment in promotion is concentrated in Rio de Janeiro and São Paulo, following the logic of prioritizing investments.

Rodrigo Rivelino (photo) highlights the complexity of performing in 12 venues simultaneously and the expertise required for this. "Brazil is a continent. The budget has been set and there's no contingency. Operate for more than 30 days managing situations that arise at each site, keeping up the budget, is no easy task and at times like this becomes clear why specialized agencies like ours exist. If you have no experience in this field the result can be frightening and harms the customer's investment. "

"It takes extra caution even with those most basic operations we are used to create. The World Cup factor weighs. Our agency is based was chosen in Sao Paulo to take care of the actions in the Northeast, always supported by an engineer coming from Sao Paulo" said report Vanessa Moreira, director of 3Promo Salvador, one of the agencies activating the World Cup in Salvador, Natal and Recife.

The pop-up formula inspired by the international trend Rooftop Bar which appeared in the Brazilian market in January by agency Hands for Heineken returned with force and is the highlight of the World Cup. There are plenty of spaces for Day-Parties and a lot of movement. And the gift is present in all situations. More or less sophisticated, it shows usefulness and bears the marks of all sponsors in the hands of guests from all over the world.
